What are the roles of these organisations?

Family Advocacy – we are now providing a free and confidential service to support people with developmental disability and their families who have concerns about their access to the NDIS or the types of supports in their NDIS plan. Our staff can provide phone advice on:

- pre-planning advice.
- if you are not happy with your family member's NDIS plan and wish to review.
- how to understand the documentation that has been received from the NDIA
- whether to proceed to appeal is the right option.

NDIA: Review – perform an internal review of any decision made by the NDIA.

NDIA: Complaints line – the NDIS Complaints Procedure requires that they: act immediately where there appears to be a high risk of harm, neglect or abuse; aim to acknowledge complaints within the next business day from receipt; call you within two business days of acknowledgement; aim to resolve complaints within 21 business days of receipt.

Administrative Appeals Tribunal – an independent body, can review a range of the decisions made by the NDIA. You cannot ask the AAT to review a decision by the NDIA until the decision has been internally reviewed by the NDIA. Click here to see our AAT Guide.

NSW Department of Fair Trading – safeguards the rights of all consumers and advises business and traders on fair and ethical practice. They provide services directly to individuals and businesses to create a fair, safe and equitable marketplace.

NSW Ombudsman – the independent and impartial watchdog for community and disability services in NSW. They promote and protect the rights and best interests of people using disability and community services in NSW by handling and resolving complaints about these services, and by monitoring and reviewing how these services are delivered. As the NDIA is a Commonwealth Agency, you cannot complain to the NSW Ombudsman about the NDIA – those complaints go to the Commonwealth Ombudsman (see below).

Commonwealth Ombudsmen – the Disability Team has a special role in overseeing complaints about Australian Government agencies that fund or deliver programs to, or for people with disability, including the National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA).
